GAS TRUST SPARS FOR TIME AGAINST CONSUMERS' BLOWS

Eminent Counsel Tries to Head Off Decision by Justice Leventritt in Test Case of Public Rights.

BENCH DENIES DELAY SOUGHT UPON QUIBBLES.

The Evening World's Fight Arouses Monopoly to War Tactics, Which Are Quickly Nullified by Supreme Court's Insistence Upon Settling Arguments.

Arguments have been heard by Justice Leventritt in the injunction proceedings brought by the Gas Consumers' League against the Consolidated Gas Company to protect Albert L. Washburn, a gas consumer. against the violation of his implied contract. Justice Leventritt took briefs and may render his decision on Thursday.

League appeared for the people. Mr. Koenig made an extended argument He was opposed by former Judge John H. Dillon, one of the leading corporation lawyers of the United States, and John H. Garver, who is probably the most correctly tailored counsellor any Supreme Court Justice
